

(Explanations)

(4) you have all my secrets..... blossom cheeks

These lines have been extracted from the ~~novel~~ short story, The Duchess and the Jeweller written by an eminent writer. The given lines depict the ways of the deceitful Beauty. The Duchess was preparing to hypnotise Oliver. She adopted all possible devices to touch his sentiments and force him to enter the deceitful bargain. She glanced at him shyly and said that she had no secrets with him. She burst into tears. Tears slide down her eyes. These tears fell out into drops. They were like diamonds. As these drops of tears glided upon her cherry blossom cheeks. They collected powder in the hollow of her cherry coloured cheeks. The entire image can be enjoyed as a beautiful poem. Tears came out of her eyes like diamonds, one can very well imagine the glow of diamonds against the deep red colour of the cheeks.

The scene of beauty is superb. Mrs. Woolf's images are freshly called from the world of nature and with her terrific imagination, she creates a rare world of beauty and glory. Her sense of colour in this story, above anything else, is unexcelled.
